MRS. C. EGGERS DIES AT MOKENA MONDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Caroline Eggers, aged 72 years, who has been a resident of Mokena for a number of years, passed away at her home, Monday evening, at 6 o'clock. She had been in poor health for some time. For the past two weeks she had been confined to her bed.

Mrs. Eggers was born on the Island of Feemen, a German possession.

Mrs. Eggers resided in Manhattan township before coming here. She is survived by four sons—Charles of Mokena, William of Lockport, Henry of Joliet, and Herman of Chicago; three daughters—Mrs. Louis Eberhart of New Lenox township, and Misses Helen and Minnie Eggers of Mokena, with whom the deceased lived.

Funeral services were held from the late home to the St. John Evangelical church, Thursday afternoon, Rev. Wm. Kreis officiating. The funeral was largely attended. Burial in St. John cemetery.

Mokena Chautauqua Will Organize Mon

Plans for promoting the Mokena Chautauqua are under way, and a meeting of the guarantors to organize was to have been held at the insurance office, Monday night, but as only a few members were present, it was decided to hold the meeting next Monday night, and all the guarantors, numbering 23, are invited to be present. At this session an organization will be perfected and the proper officers chosen. It is hoped that the Chautauqua will go over big, as this is the first affair of its kind to be held in Mokena.

WANTED—Farmers, truck-growers, stock-raisers, dairy, men, housewives, boys and girls to exhibit their products and handiwork at the Great Chi-Cook Fair, Maywood, Ill., August 26-September 4. $15,000 in premiums. America's greatest county fair. Supported by Cook County Farm Bureau, Cook County Truck Gardeners' Association, and other farm organizations. This is YOUR fair. Mokena Girl Married At Crown Point, Ind.

Miss Catherine Hurley who has been employed as operator at the Mokena telephone office, stole a march on her friends and slipped away, last Tuesday, to Crown Point, Ind., where she was united in marriage with Bennie Benson of Joliet, the wedding taking place at a Methodist parsonage. There were no attendants.

When the bride came to work at the local telephone office, on Thursday morning, she found a big surprise in store for her. The office was prettily decorated with white and green streamers, which radiated from the switchboard over the desk and then to the ceiling. The operator's chair was also trimmed with white and green crepe, two beautiful bouquets of flowers graced the desk, and a large white cardboard sign with "Congratulations" stood in between the bouquets.

The decorative scheme was designed by the local telephone manager, Mrs. Hugh Deardmore, and Misses Edna Schumbl and Myrtle Hacker. They also presented the bride with gifts. The many friends of Mrs. Benson unite in wishing her much happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Benson will reside for the present with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGovney.

DO YOU REMEMBER WHEN—

New Lenox was a thriving village? Once upon a time it boasted of a wagon-making shop, blacksmith shop, four stores, two meat markets, a shoe shop, tinmith shop, drug store, implement shop, had a brass band and many other features.

This was quite a good many years back, but can be easily recalled by the old-time residents. The writer well remembers when O. Holmes had a wagon-making shop, and Mr. Davis ran a tin shop in connection with the hardware store kept by Mr. Fellows in the building now occupied by Amos Bruns as a barber shop and pool room.

Yes, and New Lenox had two creameries in its day. Those were the good old days. Ward Knickerbocker conducted a drug store, general store and postoffice, and also had the first circulating library in New Lenox. The first phonograph brought to the village was played in this store 20 years ago, and brought out a crowd of curious villagers.

Fires and removals of different people changed conditions greatly in recent years, and these former flourishing enterprises are now a mere memory.

NEW LENOX COUPLE OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Fitzer were honored on their fifth wedding anniversary, last Friday evening, July 21st, when 100 friends and relatives gathered at "The Elysium," in New Lenox.

Various games prevailed throughout the evening, but when the melodious strains of the old-fashioned accordion penetrated the air, young and old joined in dancing to the pretty melodies of olden times, which were intermingled with modern dancing and music.

One of the most interesting diversions of the evening was the mock wedding, which created a great deal of mirth and merriment.

The Elysium, being beautifully decorated, served as a very attractive place for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitzer were presented with many useful gifts.

At 11:30 refreshments were served in Cafeteria style.

Chautauqua Opens At Blue Island Aug. 3rd

Blue Island is looking forward to another big attraction by way of the 1922 Chautauqua, which opens in that city on August 3rd for a five-day session. The program will be of a varied nature, and will contain many special features.

The evening of the opening date "The Shepherd of the Hills" will be produced by the Wales Players. Other big features on the program will be The Landis Brass Quartette, Hammond's Gypsies, Morrison Girls Orchestra, Lectures by Dr. W. L. Mellinger.

There will be afternoon and evening programs during the entire five-day period, and everyone attending will surely be well repaid for the time and money spent. It is the desire of the Blue Island Chautauqua Committee to make this year's Chautauqua bigger, better and grander than ever. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy this exceptional opportunity of hearing some of the best artists of the country right at home.

M. E. MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT BIG SUCCESS

One of the most pleasing and interesting church affairs of the Summer season was the musical entertainment at Mokena M. E. church, Tuesday evening, by Prof. J. M. Thompson, director of music in the Joliet schools, and a company of other Joliet talent. A large audience greeted the entertainers, who more than pleased the gathering with their high class selections. At the close of the program everyone present complimented the entertainers on their excellent program. The Sunday school sponsored the program, which was as follows:

CINDER BUILDING BLOCKS LATEST

V. H. Scheer, local concrete manufacturer, has started making a new kind of building block. He is going to use these blocks in building his own dwelling. He has been making cinder blocks, using cement and cinders instead of gravel or sand. These blocks have a hollow center, and are much lighter than the ordinary building blocks. They are ribbed on one side, which is laid toward the outside of the wall, and is used for stuccoing or keelastoning. These blocks are very hard, and are much cheaper to manufacture.

Mr. Scheer is also engaged in manufacturing 24-inch drainage cement tiles. These are used to drain swamp land in the vicinity of Alpine and Orland. He has been given the contract to make quite a few hundred of these tiles. He has six moulds, and is able to make 12 of these big tiles in a day.

Former Tinley Park City Father Dead

Henry Schumacher, life-long resident of Bremen and Rich townships, passed away, Thursday afternoon, at his home in Tinley Park, following a long siege of illness. Mr. Schumacher has been in poor health for over a year, and for a long time had been unable to leave his home.

The deceased was born in Sedan Prairie 71 years ago, and had lived in this vicinity all his life. He was actively engaged in farming until he removed to Tinley Park, some years ago. While a resident here he was a member of the village board of trustees.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the late home to the Sedan Prairie Lutheran church, Rev. Heiber officiating. Burial in the Sedan Prairie cemetery.

The deceased is survived by two sons and four daughters, besides many other relatives and friends.

Orland Piano Recital Well Attended

The Piano Recital given by pupils of Mrs. Raymond Cooper, Friday evening, July 21st, at the Orland M. E. church, was well attended. The program was as follows:

NEW LENOX HALL CONTROVERSY IS FINALLY SETTLED

The New Lenox dance hall, which has been a bone of contention between the State Highway Department and the owners, Edward Fitzer and Axel Peterson, will be moved onto the Kennedy lot, south of the present location.

Messrs. Fitzer and Peterson engaged Attorney A. H. Krusemark to represent their interests when the State threatened to start condemnation proceedings. The State had made an offer of $2,000 to the owners for removing the hall and paying for part of the lot on which the highway will be built. After a lengthy debate over the matter, the Department offered the hall owners $3,000.00, but this was rejected, and a compromise offer was made by Attorney Krusemark asking for $3,550.00 for removing the hall, and for an additional $250.00 for the portion of the lot on which the hall now stands, which is required by the highway. This offer was finally accepted by the State, and the affair was practically closed Saturday, minor details being settled this week.

Attorney Krusemark states that the hall interests can acquire the Kennedy property for $2,000.00, and that the dwelling now standing on that lot will be removed, and the hall moved in its place. The laying of a new foundation and the moving of the hall will entail a cost greater than the total amount received from the State, but Attorney Krusemark contends that it will prove cheaper for the hall owners to settle the affair this way than to let the matter go to court.

It is understood that the contract for constructing the Lincoln Highway thru New Lenox will be let August 1st, or shortly thereafter.

FRANKFORT TO PLAY PEOTONE

The Frankfort baseball team will go to Peotone Sunday to play one of the strongest teams in the country. A very exciting game is looked for.

Last Sunday Frankfort played the Jefferson A. C. team of Chicago Heights, and defeated them with a score of 10 to 2.

"I didn't. She proposed to me."

"But you could have refused her."

"No, I couldn't. She said 'I'll marry me? Have you any objection? So whether I'd said 'Yes' or 'No,' she had me either way."

IN BOSTON

SYNOPSIS.—In a preface Mary Marie explains her apparent "double personality" and just why it is a "cross-current and a contradiction"; she also tells her reasons for writing the diary—later to be a novel. The diary is commenced at Andersonville. Mary begins with Nurse Sarah's account of her (Mary's) birth, which seemingly interested her father, who is a famous astronomer, less than a new star which was discovered the same night. Her name is a compromise; her mother wanted to call her Viola and her father insisted on Abigail Jane. The child quickly learned that her home was in some way different from those of her small friends, and was puzzled thereat. Nurse Sarah tells her of her mother's arrival at Andersonville as a bride and how astonished they all were at the sight of the dainty eighteen-year-old girl whom the sedate professor had chosen for a wife. Nurse Sarah makes it plain one to the child and how her father and mother drifted apart through misunderstanding, each too proud to in any way attempt to smooth over the situation. Mary tells of the time spent "out west" where the "perfectly all right and genteel and respectable" divorcee was being arranged for, and her mother's (to her) unaccountable behavior. By the court's decree the child is to spend six months of the year with her mother and six months with her father. Boston is Mother's home.

Everything seems awfully queer. Maybe because Father isn't here, for one thing. He wrote very polite and asked us to come to get our things, and he said he was going to New York on business for several days, so Mother need not fear he should annoy her with his presence. Then, another thing, Mother's queer. This morning she was singing away at the top of her voice and running all over the house picking up things she wanted; and seemed so happy. But this afternoon I found her down on the floor in the library crying as if her heart would break, with her head in Father's big chair before the fireplace. But she jumped up the minute I came in and said, no, no, she didn't want anything. She was just tired; that's all. And when I asked her if she was sorry, after all, that she was going to Boston to live, she said, no, no, no, indeed, she guessed she wasn't. She was just as glad as glad could be that she was going only she wished Monday would hurry up and come so we could be gone.

And that's all. It's a Saturday now, and we go just day after tomorrow. Our trunks are 'most packed, and Mother says she wishes she'd planned to go today. I've said good-bye to all the girls, and promised to write loads of letters about Boston and everything. They are almost as excited as I am; and I've promised, "cross my heart and hope to die," that I won't love those Boston girls better than I do them—specially Carrie Heywood, of course, my dearest friend.

Nurse Sarah is hovering around everywhere, asking to help, and pretending she's sorry we're going. But she isn't sorry. She's glad. I know she is. She never did appreciate Mother, and she thinks she'll have everything her own way now. But she won't. I could tell her a thing or two if I wanted to. But I shan't.

Father's sister, Aunt Jane Anderson, from St. Paul, is coming to keep house for him, partly on account of Father, and partly on account of me. "If that child is going to be with her father six months of the time, she's got to have some woman there beside a meddling old nurse and a nosey servant girl!" They didn't know I heard that. But I did. And now Aunt Jane is coming. My! how mad Nurse Sarah would be if she knew. But she doesn't.

I guess I'll end this chapter here and begin a fresh one down in Boston. Oh, I do so wonder what it'll be like—Boston, Mother's home, Grandpa Desmond, and all the rest. I'm so excited I can hardly wait. You see, Mother never took me home with her but once, and then I was a very small child. I don't know why, but I guess Father didn't want me to go. It's safe to say he didn't, anyway. He never wants me to do anything, hardly. That's why I suspect him of not wanting me to go down to Grandpa Desmond's. And Mother didn't go only once, in ages.

Now this will be the end. And when I begin again it will be in Boston. Only think of it—really, truly Boston!

CHAPTER IV.

When I Am Marie.

Yes, I'm here. I've been here a week. But this is the first minute I've had a chance to write a word. I've been so busy just being here. And so has Mother. There's been such a lot going on since we came. But I'll try now to begin at the beginning and tell what happened.

Well, first we got into Boston at four o'clock Monday afternoon, and there was Grandpa Desmond to meet us. He's lovely—tall and dignified, with grayish hair and merry eyes like Mother's, only his are behind glasses. At the station he just kissed Mother and me and said he was glad to see us, and led us to the place where Peter was waiting with the car. (Peter drives Grandpa's automobile, and he's lovely, too.)

Mother and Grandpa talked very fast and very lively all the way home, and Mother laughed quite a lot. But in the hall she cried a little, and Grandpa patted her shoulder, and said, "There, there!" and told her how glad he was to get his little girl back, and that they were going to be very happy now and forget the past. And Mother said, yes, yes, indeed, she knew she was; and she was so glad to be there, and that everything was going to be just the same, wasn't it? Only—then all of a sudden she looked over at me and began to cry again—only, of course, things couldn't be "just the same," she choked, hurrying over to me and putting both arms around me, and crying harder than ever.

Then Grandpa came and hugged us both, and patted us, and said, "There, there!" and pulled off his glasses and wiped them very fast and very hard.

But it wasn't only a minute or two before Mother was laughing again, and saying, "Nonsense!" and "The idea!" and this was a pretty way to introduce her little Marie to her new home!

Well, First We Got Into Boston at Four O'clock Monday Afternoon, and There Was Grandpa Desmond to Meet Us.

Then she hurried me to the dearest little room I ever saw, right out of hers, and took off my things. Then we went all over the house. And it's just as lovely as can be—not at all like Father's in Andersonville.

Oh, Father's is fine and big and handsome, and all that, of course; but not like this. His is just a nice place to eat and sleep in, and go to when it rains. But this—this you just want to live in all the time. Here there are curtains 'way up and sunshine, and flowers in pots, and magazines, and cozy nooks with cushions everywhere; and books that you've just been reading laid down. (All Father's books are in bookcases, always, except while one's in your hands being read.)

Grandpa's other daughter, Mother's sister, Hattie, lives here and keeps house for Grandpa. She has a little boy named Lester, six years old; and her husband is dead. They were away for what they called a week-end when we came, but they got here a little after we did Monday afternoon; and they're lovely, too.

We have dinner 'at night here, and I've been to the theater twice already in the afternoon. I've got to go to school next week, Mother says, but so far I've just been having a good time. And so's Mother. Honestly, it has just seemed as if Mother couldn't crowd the days full enough. She hasn't been still a minute.

Lots of her old friends have been to see her; and when there hasn't been anybody else around she's taken Peter and had him drive us all over Boston to see things—all kinds of things; Bunker hill and museums, and moving pictures, and one play.

But we didn't stay at the play. It started out all right, but pretty soon a man and a woman on the stage began to quarrel. They were married (not really, but in the play, I mean), and I guess it was some more of that incompatibility stuff. Anyhow, as they began to talk more and more, Mother began to fidget, and pretty soon I saw she was gathering up our things; and the minute the curtain went down after the first act, she says:

"Come, dear, we're going home. It—it isn't very warm here."

As if I didn't know what she was really leaving for! Do old folks honestly think they are fooling us all the time, I wonder? But even if I hadn't known then, I'd have known it later, for that evening I heard Mother and Aunt Hattie talking in the library.

No, I didn't listen. I heard. And that's a very different matter. You listen when you mean to, and that's sneaking. You hear when you can't help yourself, and that you can't be blamed for. Sometimes it's your good luck, and sometimes it's your bad luck—just according to what you hear!

Well, I was in the window-seat in the library reading when Mother and Aunt Hattie came in; and Mother was saying:

"Of course I came out! Do you suppose I'd have had that child see that play, after I realized what it was? As if she hasn't had enough of such wretched stuff already in her short life! Oh, Hattie, Hattie, I want that child to laugh, to sing, to fairly tingle with the joy of living every minute that she is with me. I know so well what she has had, and what she will have—in that—tomb. You know in six months she goes back—"

Mother saw me then, I know; for she stopped right off short, and after a moment began to talk of something else, very fast. And pretty quick it went out into the hall again.

Dear little Mother! Bless her old heart! Isn't she the dearest dear to want me to have all the good times possible now so as to make up for the six months I've got to be with Father? You see, she knows what it is to live with Father even better than I do.

But I know now why I've been having such a perfectly beautiful time all this week, and why Mother has been filling every minute so full of fun and good times. Why, even when we're at home here, she's always hunting up little Lester and getting him to have a romp with us.

But of course next week I've got to go to school, and it can't be quite so jolly then. Well, I guess that's all for this time.

ABOUT A MONTH LATER

I didn't make a chapter of that last. It wasn't long enough. And, really, I don't know as I've got much to add to it now. There's nothing much happened.

I go to school now, and don't have so much time for fun. School's pretty good, and there are two or three girls 'most as nice as the ones at Andersonville. But not quite. Out of school Mother keeps things just as lively as ever, and we have beautiful times. Mother is having a lovely time with her own friends, too. Seems as if there is always some one here when I get home, and lots of times there are teas and parties, and people to dinner.

There are gentlemen, too. I suppose one of them will be Mother's lover by and by; but of course I don't know which one yet. I'm awfully interested in them, though. And of course it's perfectly natural that I should be. Wouldn't you be interested in the man that was going to be your new father? Well, I just guess you would! Anybody would.

There are quite a lot of them, and they're all different. They'd make very different kinds of fathers, I'm sure, and I'm afraid I wouldn't like some of them. But, after all, it's Mother that ought to settle which to have—not me. She's the one to be pleased. 'Twould be such a pity to have to change again. Though she could, of course, same as she did Father, I suppose.

As I said, they're all different. There are only two that are anywhere near alike, and they aren't quite the same, for one's a lawyer and the other's in a bank. But they both carry canes and wear tall silk hats, and part their hair in the middle, and look at you through the kind of big round eyeglasses with dark rims that would make you look awfully homely if they didn't make you look so stylish. But I don't think Mother cares very much for either the lawyer or the bank man, and I'm glad. I wouldn't like to live with those glasses every day, even if they are stylish. I'd much rather have Father's kind.

Then there's the man that paints pictures. He's tall and slim, and wears queer ties and long hair. He's always standing back and looking at things with his head on one side, and exclaiming "Oh!" and "Ah!" with a long breath. He says Mother's coloring is wonderful. I heard him. And I didn't like it very well, either. Why, it sounded as if she put it on herself out of a box on her bureau, same as some other ladies do!

"Dr. Anderson is not a wretch at all. He's an honorable, scholarly gentleman."

Woman Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Makes This Offer

Cumberland, Md.—"My mother gave me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was between thirteen and fourteen years old and was going to school, because I suffered with pains and could not rest. I did not have any more trouble after that until I was married, then I always was troubled in my back while carrying a child and could not do my work until I took the Vegetable Compound. I am strong, do all my washing and ironing and work for seven children and feel fine. I always have an easy time at childbirth and what it did for me it will do for other women. I am willing to answer any woman if she will write asking what it did for me."

Mrs. JOHN HEIER, 53 Dilley St., Cumberland, Md.

During girlhood and later during motherhood Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought relief to Mrs. Heier. Her case is but one of many we constantly publish recommending our Vegetable Compound. She is willing to answer your letter. Write to her.

ARE YOU GIVING OUT?

Does every day mean just another day of suffering? Are you lame, stiff and aching—tortured with a nerve-racking backache? Surely there's a reason why you feel so badly and likely it's weakened kidneys. When the kidneys fail, poisons accumulate and upset the whole system. That's why you have constant backache and sharp, stabbing twinges. You may have headaches, nervous and dizzy spells with annoying bladder irregularities. Don't risk serious kidney disease. Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

MRS. FRANK WILKIE, of Syracuse, N. Y., formerly matron at the State Reformatory at Industry, N. Y., who says she is delighted with Tanlac since it restored her health after she suffered eight years.

"This is the first time in eight years that I have been free from stomach trouble and it is all because of the wonderful good Tanlac has done me," said Mrs. Frank Wilkie, 229 Cedar St., Syracuse. Mrs. Wilkie formerly resided in Buffalo and for two years was matron of the State Reformatory at Industry, N. Y.

"I was eating scarcely enough to keep alive," she declared, "for I would rather not touch a bite than suffer the misery I knew would follow. Even sweet milk disagreed with me. I was sick in bed for two and three days at a time, and gas on my stomach made such awful pressure on my heart it almost cut off my breath. I had horrible dreams at night and in the morning was all tired out."

"Well, the longest day I live I will praise Tanlac, for my improvement has been simply remarkable. I have no more heartburn, my appetite is wonderful, I can eat most anything I want, and my sleep is sound and restful. I am thoroughly delighted with Tanlac. It is wonderful."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Respect for the Constitution.
"I am going to propose another amendment to the United States Constitution," announced the man of ponderous purposes.

"Another amendment?" rejoined Senator Sorghum, doubtfully. "We have a large number of amendments already."

"There is nothing to limit the number."

"There ought to be something. The Constitution is not very long, and is easily memorized. A statesman who proposes any more amendments should at least be required to stand up and prove that he knows the original document by heart."

Deception.

"How's this? You have no money?"

"None."

"Before we were married didn't you tell me you were interested in the Mammoth Oil company?"

"I am interested in contemplating the workings of such an efficient organization. But I don't own any of its stock."

SUMMER DISHES

A delicious summer salad is prepared by using ripe, juicy peaches. Peel and halve them and remove the stones, arrange on a bed of lettuce hearts and fill the centers with a ball of highly seasoned cream cheese which has been mixed with chopped nuts and serve with mayonnaise dressing.

Raisins have a natural iron content which makes them a valuable food. A handful added to almost any salad will add to its flavor as well as its food value. Raisins added to boiled rice, bread puddings and simple foods prepared for the children will tempt them to eat food otherwise refused.

Raisin Roly Poly.—Sift one cupful of flour with one teaspoonful each of salt and baking powder, add one teaspoonful of butter and two of lard, mix well, add one-half cupful of milk and two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Roll out one-fourth inch in thickness and cover with one cupful of raisins seeded and stewed until thick, adding one tablespoonful of sugar. Roll the same as a jelly roll and brush with butter; sprinkle with sugar and bake in a moderate oven. Serve warm with a lemon sauce.

Apricot Tort.—Make a tender white layer cake, baking in two layers. Take two pounds of ripe apricots, peel and mash and put through a sieve; one can drained may be used if the fresh are not obtainable. Add powdered sugar to sweeten and one tablespoonful of butter. Spread on the cake for a filling and cover the cake with frosting. Decorate with halves of the apricots.

Boiled Fish With Butter Sauce.—Drop the fish tied in a cheese cloth into boiling water and simmer until tender; seasoning such as onion, bay leaf or parsley may be added to the water when cooking. Drain the fish and serve with a rich white sauce to which has been added while hot another tablespoonful of butter and the juice of a large lemon, with salt and pepper to season. Serve cold or hot with the fish.

Too many there be that we daily see
With selfish, hollow pride,
Who the plowman's lot in his humble plot,

With a scornful look deride.

But we'd rather take, aye, a hearty shake

From his hand, than to wealth we'd bow,

For the friendly grasp of that hand's rough clasp

Have stood by the good old plow.

GOOD THINGS OTHER FOLKS LIKE

Sometime when you don't know what to have for dinner try some of these:

Baked Ham.—Take a thick slice of ham cut from the center, weighing 2½ pounds—enough to serve six people generously. Place in a baking dish and cover with four sliced onions, a pint of tomatoes and a sprig of parsley and a bay leaf. Bake slowly two hours.

Make a gravy from the liquor in the pan and serve with baked potatoes, which may be cooked with the same heat.

Orange Layer Cake.—Take one-third of a cupful of shortening, add one cupful of sugar gradually, beating well;

one beaten egg, one cupful of milk alternately with 1½ cupfuls of flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder; flavor with orange rind or extract and bake in two layers about twenty minutes in a moderate oven. Spread whipped cream thickly between the layers and cover with:

Fruit Salad.—Prepare two cupfuls of watermelon and two cupfuls of muskmelon by cutting into inch cubes;

add one cupful of sliced peaches and mix well, chill and arrange on lettuce and add French dressing; serve at once.

Orange Fosting.—Take one cupful of confectioners' sugar, mix with one tablespoonful of cream, pulp and rind of an orange and a little orange extract with some yellow vegetable coloring. Beat until smooth and spread over the cake.

Sour Cream Pie.—Take one cupful of sour cream, add one-half cupful of sugar, the yolks of two eggs well beaten, one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoonful of cloves, a pinch of salt and one-half cupful of raisins chopped fine. Line a pie plate with pastry, fill and cover. Bake in a hot oven long enough to set the pastry, then reduce the heat to bake the custard. If desired the pie may be made with one crust, using a meringue with the egg whites and six tablespoonfuls of sugar. Brown in a slow oven.

When puzzled for a salad just take a few diced vegetables and stir them into a lemon jelly, pour into individual molds and serve on lettuce with a thick mayonnaise. Two cupfuls of vegetables will be needed with a cupful of the jelly.

DON'T OBSERVE 8-HOUR DAY

Law Is No Longer Popular With Workmen in Hamburg, Germany, Says Writer.

Keener competition is causing a decided swing away from many post-war pet ideas in Germany. Even the eight-hour law is no longer popular. Frederick Simpich writes in Our World. The labor inspection bureau in a recent report pictures the trouble

GETS CLOCK, BUT NOT "TIME"

Court Robbed of Imposing Timepiece Under Its Very Eyes and With Its Permission.

Thousands of law-breakers have been given "time" at Berlin's central criminal court in Moabit, but recently an ingenious crook posing as a repair man actually was given the court's official clock and that while a case was being tried.

The sitting was well under way when a man in working clothes entered the courtroom with a long ladder which he calmly placed under the huge, imposing timepiece on the wall. The judge, counsel, accused and spectators were astonished as such an unprecedented interruption. The president stopped the workman's ascent of his ladder long enough to inquire the meaning of his conduct. The visitor explained that he merely wanted to get the clock for repair and that it would take only a moment. The president objected, but consented when the man said he already had called six times and always found the court in session.

The vacant space on the wall surprised the janitor later in the day, and his investigations revealed that the court had been robbed under its very eyes, in fact, with its permission.

ASSYRIANS NOT SO ROUGH

Were More Humane Than Popularly Fabled, Says Professor Who Has Studied Their Laws.

The Assyrian is popularly recalled as coming down "like a wolf on the fold." But one provision of the Assyrian code of laws indicates that the Assyrians are more humane than they are popularly fabled. This requires that the destitute widow be helped by her sons "as the bride whom one loves."

Instead of the Assyrians being wholly abject, their letters, says Prof. A. F. Olmstead, of the University of Illinois, show high officials speaking their minds with the greatest plainness, the kings making pathetic appeals to those whose support they would win. Their imperial free cities were as free as those in western Europe in the Middle Ages, with charters of freedom from corners of the earth and to all tongues.

Strong Persuasion.
"That was a fine editorial you had on 'Woman As a Power in Politics.'"

"Thanks," said the editor of the Chiglersville Clarion. "A delegation of lady voters called and ordered me to write it on the pain of their instant displeasure. After they'd gone I got to thinking about the way they came in, what they said, and the way they went out, and I concluded that maybe they are a power in politics."

The wind frequently turns an umbrella, but a borrower seldom returns it.

Back to the Grain Fields for Health

GRAPE-NUTS is a regular "three bags full" of the best food qualities of whole wheat flour and malted barley, carefully mixed and slowly baked—

To develop all their appetizing flavor,
To preserve all their wholesomeness,
And to provide nature's "broom" that keeps the digestive system spick and span.

There's not a bit of artificial sweetening in Grape-Nuts—it just becomes sweet of its own accord in the long baking.

And that enticing flavor—how good it is with good milk or cream! Fruits, too, fresh or cooked, add to the delight of a dish of Grape-Nuts, morning, noon or sundown.

It is a compact, ready-to-eat food—no cooking needed. Why not try it for tomorrow's breakfast?

TINLEY PARK

A company of seventy-five relatives, friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Niemen, Sunday night, to celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary, also the birthday of their daughter Myra, who received many pretty presents. Mr. and Mrs. Nieman received many pretty and useful gifts of aluminum ware.

Five gallons of ice cream, sandwiches, cake, candy and root beer was served. Everybody had a jolly time, and hope to come again in five years to observe Mr. and Mrs. Nieman's 15th anniversary.

The Tinley Park Ramblers played the Phoenix Horseshoe Works team of Joliet Sunday, defeating the latter with a score of 8 to 3. The Ramblers will play fast Chicago Heights team at the Heights this coming Sunday.

The annual Kinder Fest, held at Roecker's Grove, Sunday, by the Zion Lutheran church, was very largely attended. In the morning church services were held in the grove by Rev. A. Buddenagen, followed by the picnic.

Early Sunday morning a big laynes touring car was found lying in a ditch on the highway toward Roecker's Grove. The car had been set on fire and was burning when found. No license or number plate could be found, so it is thought the car was stolen and destroyed by the thieves.

Rails have been shipped in to be used in laying a switch track next to the switch running up to the V. H. Scheer concrete plant. The new sidetrack is to be used by the State Highway Department for their steam shovel and concrete mixer, which will be moved here soon as work on the concrete highway from Galesville is begun.

Farmers in this section have nearly finished cutting oats, and are getting ready for threshing.

About forty guests were present. In addition to the "roast," a very interesting program was rendered, part indoors and part on the lawn. Mrs. Wesley Hollstein and Mr. Wm. Greene entertained with readings and piano selections. All enjoyed a delightful time.

MOKENA POLICE CHIEF OPENS WAR ON AUTOISTS VIOLATING SPEED LAW

Police Chief John Frisch of Mokena has opened war on all speeders in the village limits, and the first offender, no matter who it is, will be placed under arrest and brought to trial, and the affair will be published, to set an example for others.

Officer Frisch has been very lenient with the speeders, not wishing to make any trouble. He thought they would heed warnings, but no attention has been paid to his admonitions.

At the village council meeting Wednesday, Alderman Edward Schenkel severely criticised Officer Frisch for not arresting the speeders. The alderman was told by the chief that he would round up all violators, and the alderman will have to take the consequences.

Officer Frisch states that some of the worst offenders are right at home. They speed thru the village streets at speeds ranging from 30 to 50 miles an hour. They also come out of garages in town at a speed of 30 miles without even blowing their horns. The use of glaring headlights and spotlights is also under the ban.

Offenders are going to be summarily dealt with, as Officer Frisch is tired of being criticised and of not being listened to when he gives warnings. From now on drastic action will be taken, regardless of whom it hits.

When a young man meets a girl and falls in love with her, he should avoid saying, as one used to say, "Will you be mine?" It is more tactful in these days to whisper, "May I be yours?"

The Miller-Fisher

Controversy

Henry Miller, Mokena meat dealer who figured in court last week after getting in a row with Walter Fisher, local merchant, declares he was fined $10 and was placed under $100 peace bonds for 6 months.

Mr. Miller declares the row was caused by some people telling him that Fisher had made remarks to the effect that Miller kept a dirty market and meat, but Fisher denies making such statements.

News Nuggets From Illinois

Six suits, aggregating $217,420, for damages resulting from the recent "war" between striking miners and nonunion workers at the strip of the Southern Illinois Coal company, six miles west of Marion, have been filed against Williamson county. The largest claim was filed by the Southern Illinois Coal company for damage to its mine and to an automobile which was fired upon on June 21, the first day of the disorders. This suit seeks damages amounting to nearly $200,000. Individual claims ranging from $20 to $1,000 were filed by Mike Melah, Carl Mankins and Robert McLennan, all of Chicago, for lost wearing apparel and personal property. Notice of the claims for damages was served upon Thomas Kern of Herrin, chairman of the county board of supervisors, State's Attorney Delos Duty and County Clerk E. H. Scobey of Marion by Chicago attorneys.

Beautiful trees in the state park at Starved Rock are either dying or toppling over from their roots being exposed by heavy rains, according to complaint of citizens of Ottawa who have recently visited the park. One after another the trees are dying, it is said, and those who have called attention to the condition state that unless something is done in a few years the only foliage left will be the underbrush and a few trees that are rooted in crevices which cannot be reached. Pictures of Starved Rock taken twenty-five years ago compared with those of the present show that the summit of the rock is being devastated, it is said. The trails in the park, too, are not kept up and many of them on the hill-side are breaking down, the complaints say.

One hundred and thirteen eggs laid by five white Leghorn hens won the state egg-laying contest for Ward L. Hull of Roodhouse during the month of June at Murphysboro. It was announced at Springfield by Chief Poultryman Scott. The hens of Mr. Hull's were in the Mediterranean class. For the American, Asiatic and English class I, prize was won by Francis Schilling of Waterloo. In the contest held at Quincy for June, the Kent poultry farm of Cazenovia, N. Y., won first with five Barred Rocks in the American, Asiatic and English class. In the Mediterranean class at Quincy George B. Ferris of Grand Rapids, Mich., won first.

Sudden deaths and misfortunes have beset the Van Duse family of St. Charles. Mrs. Leo Van Duse fell dead in her husband's arms a few days ago. Before the inquest her brother, Peter Van Duse, went in a taxicab to take another brother, Alphonse, to the proceedings. The taxicab turned over several miles from St. Charles. Peter was killed. Alphonse was probably fatally injured. Gus Alleman, the driver, was seriously hurt.

Farmers and stock raisers over the state are making preparations for the annual county fairs, which will begin soon and continue through the fall season. This year nearly every county in the state is making an effort to surpass in size, attractiveness and number of prizes offered all previous fairs. The state fair, to be held September 16 to 23, will be the "granddaddy" of all the county fairs.

John Pitcher, fifty-four, whose body was found in the fork of a large tree near Pana, committed suicide, according to a coroner's jury. Pitcher, a well-to-do real estate dealer, is believed to have abandoned his automobile near the scene, climbed into the tree and, before shooting himself, arranged his body so it would not fall.

The Central Illinois public service plant, which supplies light for about fifty southern Illinois cities, including Harrisburg, Marion, Carbondale, Eldorado, West Frankfort, Shawneetown and Anna, has only a few days' supply of coal. This plant also operates the interurban line from Eldorado to Carrier Mills.

The first white settlers in what is now Quincy came to that section 100 years ago and plans for the observance of this centennial are being made. The ceremonies are to be held some time this fall, probably in the building of the Quincy Historical society. The first settlers were John Wood and William Keyes.

Sheriff Martin Hextell of Kendall county has filed a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the payment to him of $500 he claims is due him as his share of the reward of $1,000 offered for the capture of James Witt, alleged murderer of George Rehm, West Chicago policeman.

Livingston county is in the midst of a road-building and road-improving campaign, the largest in its history. The county is building 44 bridges and culverts and is spreading 2,000,000 gallons of oil on the dirt highways.

Gray-suited servants of Uncle Sam, members of the Illinois State Association of Letter Carriers, will assemble at Urbana Friday and Saturday, July 28 and 29, in annual convention. President William H. Rodgers will preside. The program will consist of talks by prominent members of the state and national associations upon topics relating to the work of the carriers. Several hundred delegates are expected. A sight-seeing trip to the University of Illinois has been arranged by the entertainment committee and a banquet will follow.

Charles R. Francis, city commissioner of public works at Chicago, will succeed Cornelius R. Miller, director of the state department of public works and buildings, according to reports from Michigan City where leaders of the Chicago city and state administration are mapping out plans for the coming political campaigns. Mr. Miller, it is said, will resign from Governor Small's cabinet soon after Commissioner Francis returns from Europe. William H. Reid, city commissioner of public service, or William Burkhardt, brother-in-law of the mayor, who is now deputy commissioner of public works, are under consideration for the public works commissioner. Two other members of Governor Small's cabinet are reported to be planning to resign in the near future. They are George A. Barr, director of the state department of commerce, and W. H. H. Miller, director of education and registration, who was recently indicted for alleged fraudulent issuance of certificates.

Now comes the bathtub, for hogs. It is advocated by the farm bureau of Jo Daviess county. The bureau says a bathtub for hogs is just as necessary as a similar modern improvement for human beings. The hog must be kept sanitary, and the only way to do it is to build it a tub and let it wash. "It has been found," says the bureau publication, "that a bathtub made of planks, eight feet long, four feet wide and one foot deep is a good size. Place it in the shade, fill it half full of water, add one pint of a coal-tar dip as a disinfectant and a tablespoonful of crude oil on top. This bath can be cleaned out and renewed frequently. A sanitary bath has been found to prevent hog troubles from progressing."

Illinois probably will produce 303,726,000 bushels of corn this year, according to the July report of the Illinois co-operative crop reporting service of the United States Department of Agriculture. This figure is indicated, said A. J. Surratt, agricultural statistician, by acreage reports and surveys of crop conditions over the state. The Illinois corn acreage for this season is estimated to be 8,819,000 acres or 2 per cent less than the 1921 acreage of 8,999,000 acres. The condition of the crop was reported to be 84 per cent compared with the ten-year average of 85 per cent. The probable production of 303,726,000 bushels compares with 305,966,000 bushels for last year and the five-year average of 337,245,000.

The state experimental road at Bates, near Springfield, is now undergoing the supreme test. The load being applied is 8,000 pounds on each of the rear wheels and 1,920 pounds on each of the front wheels of the trucks used in the test. This is the legal limit for loads on hard roads in this state. Ten thousand applications of this load will be made, 5,000 during the day and 5,000 during the night. This test probably will extend over a period of six weeks, as many sections of the road which cannot stand the strain will have to be repaired to permit the trucks to pass.

Illinois has 3,951,000 acres planted in oats, 185,000 acres in barley and 166,000 acres in spring wheat, according to the monthly report of crops prepared by A. J. Surratt, United States agricultural statistician. Only barley shows a greater acreage this year than last. Last year's acreage of this crop was 173,000. The oats acreage this year is 643,000 acres less than last year, while the spring wheat acreage is 13,000 acres under last year.

Mrs. S. P. Leith, aged seventy, of Farina, is cutting her third set of teeth. A few days ago she had her teeth extracted, expecting to replace them with false ones. Soon after her gums healed she noticed they were swelling and a few days later she announced that some of her third set of teeth were breaking through her gums.

Warrants for the searching of places suspected of harboring stills and home brew factories have been issued at the instigation of leading women of Belleville. Several large hauls have been made. The women, who are members of civic organizations, say they will continue swearing out warrants until Belleville is free from bootleggers.

Wheat threshing in Sangamon county has not been materially delayed because of the coal shortage, as the Sangamon county farm bureau has been able to supply coal to those farmers who did not have a supply on hand and needed it to get it through this source.

"Death due to shots fired by parties unknown to the jury" was the verdict returned by the coroner's jury which investigated the killing of 22 in the Herrin mine war. The jury reported it could find no witnesses to the tragedy.

Freepart will offer a site for the proposed old people's home and orphanage of the Mystic Workers of the World, a fraternal insurance society, when the order's annual meeting is held at Peoria in September.

Joliet may become the wallpaper manufacturing center of the United States, with the erection of six large mills by two companies. Representatives of the two concerns have purchased the necessary land and will shortly commence the erection of buildings. Joliet was selected because of the ample supply of water from the Desplaines river. Joliet has been fortunate this year in acquiring new industries, no less than seven being secured by the association of commerce since April 1, the total investment exceeding 1,000,000, and employing perhaps 1,000 men.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

VACANT HOUSES

IN THEIR grave solitude and desolation, vacant houses are pathetic reminders of empty minds, neglected and forgotten by those able to take best care of them.

On old country roads you may often see such habitations, seemingly eager to proffer a smile of welcome, but quite unable to do it.

Rank weeds are about the doors, the walls are weather-worn and stained, presenting altogether a sad picture.

And these vacant houses started gayly in life; warm in friendship and love, full of hope and aspiration. As the years rolled by they dreamed less and finally sank into a hopeless state of despondency.

You may like vacant houses or not, but there they are, telling in a language of their own of the days that are departed and the joys that are done.

And what happens to vacant houses happens in a far more lamentable way to empty minds, whose owners habitually neglect them, and pay for their disregard the sharpest penalties, at a time when their own reward should be munificent.

If you are wilfully neglecting your mind, allowing the weeds to grow about the doorway, you will find some day that you are living in solitude in a dreary dwelling, from which your friends of old turn away in sadness.

You were so self-reliant in your youth that you did not care to enlarge and beautify your thoughts.

Gradually you neglected this important duty until the weeds grew and crowded out the flowers. Too proud to stand up straight and stretch out your arms to embrace knowledge, you sat down in idleness or shirked your opportunity.

Being now your own witness and your own judge, there is alas! no possible escape from punishment.

The world has moved on and left you behind in a wilderness of mold and darkness, where you have time to reflect and repent.

But, be it known, whatever your age, you may yet improve your vacant house and make it a thing of beauty.

Women, as a rule, can do this more readily than men, yet men at forty and fifty have been known to form studious habits and flood their old vacant houses with light until its brilliancy illuminated up the whole world!

TODAY

DON'T waste time in sighing
For old days;
Don't waste time in crying
For old ways.
Better days than yesterdays
Leave no time for sorrow;
On them better fix your gaze—
Today and tomorrow.

Don't waste time in fretting
For lost hours;
Don't waste time regretting
The lost flowers.
Better hours are growing
Than memory can borrow;
Sweeter flowers are blowing
Today and tomorrow.

Don't waste time in complaining
Over bad days;
Don't waste time declining
The good ways.
Smile and look around you,
And new courage borrow;
Better days surround you—
Today and tomorrow.

HOW THEY DO IT

SPENDING your days addressing to the world at large the question: "How do they do it?" is not going to bring you any information.

You will see in your travels the banker, the railroad president, the painter, the author all respected, all useful, all getting a great deal out of a life that they have, each in their own way, made easier for others.

You will read, perhaps, that this man started on a farm, that the other began as an office boy, that the railroad president once wiped engines on the line which he now rules.

And if you are normal the question "How do they do it?" will occur to you very frequently.

For these men will look much like other men; they will talk like other men. They will have the same interest in baseball scores and the outcome of a big prize fight.

And it will be difficult for you to understand just what it was that placed them in the high positions they occupy, and kept them there.

The answer to your question is

YOUR HAND

How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies—The Capabilities or Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as Shown in Your Palm

A BUSINESS PERSON'S HAND

IN THE hand of a good man or woman of business the fingers are well opened, when held naturally, this showing versatility and self-confidence. The mount of Mars, which lies below the mount of Mercury (the latter is at the base of the little finger), should be strong and well-marked, because this indicates courage and willingness to take risks when necessary.

An exceptionally favorable sign for a man or woman or business is a tripod, or three-pronged division of the line of fate at its end. The line of fate runs up the center of the hand. This sign shows great success in business. If the finger of Mercury is unusually long, in proportion to the other fingers, it shows acquisitiveness and care of money, and is therefore a good sign for a business person. If there is a short line running upward from the line of life to or toward the finger of Jupiter, which is the index or first finger, it is a sign of ambition that is or will be gratified. Last, look in the center of the palm for a triangle that is well formed. This indicates forethought and intuition, valuable qualities in business.

SCHOOL DAYS

tion and industry—in other words hard work.

Geniuses are men apart. They don't know how they do it, and they can't tell.

But successful business men and lawyers and doctors are not geniuses, they are merely men with good natural ability, and enough energy to keep working till they get what they are after.

Study and read their biographies wherever you find them. They will answer for you a very important question. And if they can help you just a little toward exerting more energy and cherishing a little higher purpose, the time you spend in reading about them will be paid for at the rate of many thousand dollars an hour.

Mother's Cook Book

It is well to scrutinize your own shortcomings before calling attention to those of your neighbors. "You have a hole in your tail," said the sieve to the needle.

VARIATIONS OF STANDARD SALAD DRESSINGS.

MAYONNAISE dressing should be thick like whipped cream, and remain so for a long time, if kept in a cool place. Olive oil is by far the most tasty to use in making mayonnaise, but corn oil makes a very good substitute, and as far as appearance is concerned, is equally as good.

To vary mayonnaise add to three-fourths of a cupful two tablespoonfuls of tomato puree; this is tomato cooked down until very thick and put through a sieve.

Piquante mayonnaise—add two tablespoonfuls of chopped olives and pickles.

Cream mayonnaise is prepared by adding three or four tablespoonfuls of whipped cream to three-fourths of a cupful of mayonnaise.

Chutney mayonnaise—add one and one-half tablespoonfuls of chutney.

Connely mayonnaise—add one-half cupful of cold boiled rice.

Thousand isle dressing—to one cupful of mayonnaise add one-half cupful of salad oil, very slowly; one tablespoonful of tarragon vinegar, one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika, one tablespoonful of chopped chives, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one tablespoonful of green peppers, chopped; and one-third of a cupful of chili sauce.

Russian dressing—to one cupful of mayonnaise add three tablespoonfuls of chili sauce, two tablespoonfuls of pimento cut in small pieces, one tablespoonful of tarragon vinegar, one teaspoonful of chopped chives and three-fourths of a tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce.

Lemon Filling.

Boil together five minutes one cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of melted butter, one-half cupful of water and the juice of two lemons. Add two well-beaten eggs. Beat well; cool before using.

Butter Scotch.

Take one cupful of sugar, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one-fourth of a cupful of milk. Boil until it hairs. Use on spice cake.

Fig Filling.

Cook one cupful of chopped figs in one-half cupful of water, the juice of a lemon and when cool stir in powdered sugar until thick. Use on layer cake.

LESSON FOR JULY 30

THE FIRST RETURN FROM EXILE

LESSON TEXT—Jer. 29:10-14; Ezra 1:1-11.

GOLDEN TEXT—We know that all things work together for good to them that love God.—Romans 8:28.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Psalms 86:130; 131; Jer. 29.

PRIMARY TOPIC—God's People Return Home.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How God Kept a Great Promise.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How God Kept a Great Promise.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Striking Manifestations of God's Providence.

I. The Return From Captivity Predicted (29:10-14).

It seems that false prophets were flourishing in Babylon telling the people that they would speedily be restored to their own land. To counteract this the Lord moved Jeremiah to send this letter to the captives in Babylon (vv. 8, 9). In this letter he advised them to settle down and quietly pursue their regular callings of life and not to be led astray by the false prophets (vv. 6, 7).

1. The length of the captivity (v. 10). Their coming back was to be "after seventy years." From Daniel 9:2 it is clear that seventy years means a definite time. It dates from the time when the first company was taken captive among which Daniel was found.

2. Recovered by God (vv. 10-14). God's purpose in the captivity was to cure them of their idolatrous practices. He assured them that when His purpose was accomplished he would visit them and convince them of His good purpose toward them. When once this was done they would call upon Him in sincerity and He would be found of them. Their captivity He would turn away; gather them from all the nations and bring them into their own land.

II. Prediction of Captivity Fulfilled (Ezra 1:1-11).

1. The proclamation of Cyrus (vv. 1-4). (1) This was not by accident, but that the word of the Lord might be fulfilled (v. 1). What God has promised He will do; He never forgets. Wherever we find a promise which He hath made we can rest upon it; He will make good. (2) By divine initiation (v. 1). "The Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus." How this was done we do not know. Possibly Daniel brought to his attention the prophecy of Isaiah and Jeremiah (Isa. 44:28; Jer. 25:12). Every impulse to do good in all men is caused by the Lord—even a heathen king who may not have been conscious of doing His will, at God's appointed time took the initiative in this matter. It may have been that Cyrus only saw his own action as a piece of statecraft—the creation of a buffer state nation between his kingdom and that of Egypt. Be that as it may, God stirred him up to do His will. (3) The content of His proclamation (vv. 2-4). (a) "The Lord God of heaven hath charged me to build Him a house in Jerusalem" (v. 2). This makes clear that he had some impression of God's hand upon him. (b) Appeal to Jewish patriotism (v. 3). He invokes God's blessing upon such as possess the national religious feeling, and commands them to go and build the house of the Lord God. (c) Lend assistance (v. 4). Many of the Jews were established in business and therefore were not free to go. Many, no doubt, had lost their national spirit and therefore were not anxious to go.

All such were to lend friendly assistance in silver, gold and beasts. Those who cannot go to do God's work should strengthen the hands of those who do go.

2. The response of Cyrus' proclamation (vv. 5, 6). The chief of the fathers of Judah and Benjamin and the priests and Levites presented themselves as willing and ready to go. The company which returned was largely made up of representatives of Judah and Benjamin.

3. The royal favor (vv. 7-11). Cyrus brought forth the vessels of the house of the Lord which Nebuchadnezzar had brought forth out of Jerusalem and put into the house of his gods. This was a great encouragement to every loyal Jew whose heart had been grieved over the profanation of these sacred vessels. Now to have 5,400 of these vessels returned to their owners and sent back to Jerusalem to be put to their original use, met a hearty response by the Jews.

Who Knoweth the Lord's Mind. He that is spiritual judgeth all things, yet he himself is judged of no man. For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him?—I Corinthians, 2:15, 16.

HOW TO CONSTRUCT SIMPLE RADIO SETS

Materials That Are Necessary and Method of Assembling and Mounting Them.

For those who would like to construct a simple nonregenerative vacuum tube receiver, the details of several sets will be given, before taking up the explanation of the vacuum

Five binding posts.

This set requires, of course, an "A" battery to light the vacuum tube filament and a "B" battery to furnish the plate potential. The "A" battery should be a six-volt storage battery of not less than 20 ampere hours' capacity. One 22½-volt "B" battery unit is necessary for a source of plate potential.

Assembling the Coil.

Starting one-half inch from one end of the cardboard tube, wind on the No. 22 DCC wire until within one-half inch of the other end of the tube. Fasten one end of the winding to the tube, but allow some surplus wire on the other end for making a connection. After the winding is in place apply a thin coat of orange shellac to hold the turns in place.

Assemble the circular-cut pieces of wood in the geometrical center of tube as an amplifier. The circuits which will be described depend upon the vacuum tube for a detector or as a rectifier not having the additional function of an oscillator.

The first set described will be that of a tuning coil mounted on a horizontal base board. The following material is necessary for its construction:

The Tuning Coil.

A piece of cardboard tubing, outside diameter, three inches, and five inches long. It will cost about 10 cents.

One hundred feet of No. 22 DCC magnet wire. Cost about 25 cents.

One standard slider to fit ¼ by ¼-inch brass rod. Cost about 40 cents.

A six-inch length of ¼ by ¼-inch square brass rod. Cost about 20 cents.

Two circular blocks of wood, whose diameter is just equal to the inside square blocks and then shellac or varnish them for appearance' sake.

When thoroughly dry slip the two end blocks into the wound tube and by means of a few finishing brads driven through the cardboard tube fasten the end blocks to the wound tube.

The slider is to be mounted on top of the coil and should be capable of making contact with any turn of the wire on the tube. In order to remove the insulation from the wire, just under the rod where the slider moves back and forth wrap a piece of sandpaper around a thin piece of wood and, using another piece of wood as a guide, sandpaper the insulation from the winding.

Drill a hole one-eighth inch in diameter through the slider rod about diameter of the cardboard tubing and between ¾ and ½ inch thick.

Two binding posts. Some orange shellac.

The Detector.

A type U V Radiotron vacuum tube which sells for $5.

The standard vacuum tube socket costing about $1.

A filament rheostat of 6-11 ohms resistance costing about $11.

A combination grid condenser and grid leak for the U V 200 Radiotron costing 55 cents.

In addition a phone condenser costing 50 cents.

One pair of Murdock No. 56 receivers costing $6.

For mounting on base board:

One piece of wood eight inches square.

one-fourth inch in from each end so that the rod is fastened in place; see that the contact finger on the bottom of the slider can at all times make good contact with the windings. Mount a binding post on either end of the coil, attaching one by means of a wire to the slider rod and the other to the end of the wire wound on the tube, and the tuning coil is complete.

Mounting the Set on Base Board.

It is only necessary now to mount the component parts on the base board and connect them up.

Fig. 16 shows the relative positions of the instrument mounted on an eight-inch square base board, with the actual wiring diagram. Fig. 17 shows a schematic diagram of the wiring of the same set.

PLAIN HATS FOR CHILDREN; FLAPPER FROCKS ARE SIMPLE

THERE are almost as many kinds of hats for the younger generation as for grown-ups and much fine effort is spent on millinery for the flapper and flapperette. Pretty but transient styles are whisked in and out as the seasons come and pass, but there are certain superlative hats for children that do not belong in the transient class. They are the fine milans and leghorns that return with each spring and the velours, beavers and exquisite felts that come with the fall. They trimmed with handsome sashes of ribbon.

Some frocks make us long to turn the clock back far enough to allow us to wear them appropriately. We would like to begin life over again at the flapper stage and have another chance to make the most of that demure simplicity that belongs to the apparel of young girlhood.

After a period of considerable over dressing and much "jazzing up" of her belongings, the young girl is privileged are always simple, always approved by people of educated taste and they are worn everywhere.

Little variations in them bring them into line with new style tendencies, from season to season, as in color or combinations of color and in the manipulation of their subtle and becoming lines. Nearly always they are trimmed with ribbons, but there are exceptions to the rule and novelties of the day and hour, that are found in keeping with them, are appropriated for them. The ribbon trimming also is varied when new ideas are introduced, but, aside from these minor changes, fine milans, leghorns, felts, beavers, velours, in shapes and styles very like those shown here, are staple things in millinery.

There are three hats in this group, of fine milan trimmed with sashes of handsome faille ribbon. At the top again to wear simple and graceful clothes. She has the chance to look her best—if she will but take it—in dresses that have everything to commend them. For daytime wear the various crepe weaves are still unrivaled, following them are printed silks, plain and printed voiles and raitines in mid-summer dresses of simple design.

Plain crepe in dark colors was chosen for the two youthful dresses illustrated. In one of them a plain blouse fastens on the left shoulder and down the left side under flat tassels and cabochons. It has three-quarter length sleeves, fashionably slashed, and finished with a binding. A full skirt is allowed floating panels at each side that fall below its hemline and the soft sash is made of the crepe.

Even simpler is the straight-line frock at the right, with bodice bloused at the normal waistline, and elbow a pretty sailor shape, with its crown slightly belled, has had its brim edged with a border in contrasting color. The colored brim edge is a feature of this season's styles. At the left a round hat, for a very little girl, has an upturned brim in darker color. The remaining hat, for an older child, has its crown a little dented and a rolling brim with contrasting border; all are

WELL-FED CAT

"Perhaps you don't think my name is very nice," said the Garbage Cat to the Back-Fence Cat.

"I don't know that mine is so very fine," said the Back-Fence Cat. "But still it has a slightly better sound than yours."

"I think that is quite true," said the Garbage Cat. "But I like my name."

"My name means something. I will tell you about it. Me-ow, me-ow, me-ow, I will tell you about it."

"Do," said the Back-Fence Cat. "Me-ow, me-ow, me-ow, do!"

"Of course," the Garbage Cat began, "all creatures might not think it was very nice to have a name meaning that one was a great friend of the garbage, but that is where I am different."

"There are some cats who live in alleyways. They have to trust to luck."

"If the garbage cans are well-filled they have a good time, but if they are empty it is very sad."

"Ah, yes, it is very sad for the alley cats when the garbage tins aren't good and full."

"And they like it, too, when it is easy to get at the garbage tins."

"Sometimes they are on so tight, although I will admit that if there is any food about the garbage cat is smart enough to get it."

"Now they rush this way and they rush that way and they hunt for food and their life is very exciting. They never know where their next meal is coming from, but their life is one of adventure."

"I think I'd rather be an alley cat than be one of these cats living on a silken cushion and never allowed out of a beautiful house."

"I think I'd rather be the alley cat, thank you."

"You needn't thank me," said the Back-Fence Cat. "I didn't offer you anything, nor did I give you anything."

"Just a way I have of speaking," said the Garbage Cat. "I'm so polite all the time. Just because I'm a Garbage Cat doesn't mean that I haven't nice manners. Oh no. My manners are simple perhaps. There is no great amount of polish to me, but my manners are good, simple, polite manners."

"Well, I'm glad to hear it," said the Back-Fence Cat. "But I should think you could get plenty of polish in your basement home—stove polish, shoe polish, all kinds of polish."

"That is not the kind of polish I want," said the Garbage cat. "Or rather should I say that that is not the kind of a polish I was talking about. I meant the kind of a polish which would show a cat had, very stylish and aristocratic ancestors or grandfathers and grandmothers back of him."

"I do not mean right back of him as he stands—but in the background of years."

"I think that is the best way to express it. There is the kind of polish which creatures have and they have all the airs and graces of fine society. Sometimes, Back-Fence Cat, these airs and graces don't amount to very much and I really believe that kind of polish is often like the kind you had in mind—which can be put on and rubbed off!"

"But to get back to my name which is all-important, I belong to the janitor."

"The janitor takes care of a great apartment house. I receive the choice bits of the garbage from every one of these apartments."

"I am well fed. One day I was in the hall on the sixth floor of the apartment house and a lady offered me a saucer of milk. I sniffed at it disgustedly. What did I want of food when I am Garbage, the janitor's well-fed cat."

"Oh, I have the fun of the alley cats with none of the dangers and none of the hard times."

And Garbage, the cat, looked proud and his yellow eyes gleamed with triumph!

The Boy Understood.

The teacher was so interested in the lesson that he did not realize how near dinner time it was until he glanced at his watch.

"My goodness!" he exclaimed, by way of a joke, "Tempus fugit!" (Time flies!)

Then pointing at a small boy in the front row, he asked: "Tempus what?"

"Ten pas' twelve, sir!" was the reply.

MUCH MORE TO LEARN

"You seem to have confidence in your broker."

"When a man tells me Zero oil is going up and Zero oil does go up, why shouldn't I have confidence in him?"

"How long have you known the fellow?"

"Two days."

"Your education has just begun."

All Kinds.

California and New York were arguing.

"You're always bragging about your climate," complained New York. "I wish you'd tell me what there is in it so superior to mine."

"No comparison," declared California scornfully. "You haven't any climate at all. All you have is different weathers."

A Desperate Ruse.

"Well, did you collect that bill from the Scatterbys?"

"No, sir," said the new collector. "I saw a piece of crepe on their door and I didn't want to intrude on their grief."

"You go right back there and get the money. Those people hang a piece of crepe on their door on the first of every month."

Postal Belligerency.

"I'm going to write a scorching letter to my landlord," remarked Mr. Jibway.

"If you want to call him hard names why don't you talk to him face to face, like a man?"

"I can't make his weight, but I'll send the letter by special delivery to show him I'm in earnest."

No Motor Cars Then.

"I'm trying to learn a new word every day."

"Well?"

"What does 'peripatetic' mean?"

"The adjective means walking about; the noun one who walks about."

"A pedestrian, eh?"

"Yes, but pedestrianism was safer when that word first came into use."

APPROACHING THE SHELF

"Maud Derby interests herself too much in other people's affairs."

"Indeed she does. Why, she never hears of a transaction involving an engagement ring without wishing she had a ring in it."

Musings of a Motor Cop.

Sweet Gladys Green has quit this scene. We learn it with regret. She stood next to the gasoline pump and lit a cigarette.

The Usual Procedure.

"My book was a failure," lamented the young author.

"Don't be discouraged," said the more experienced novelist. "Hire a press agent to spread the tidings around that your book was too deep for the masses. Then go on the lecture platform and collect $300 a night."

At Least Three.

"Seen that new cooking contraption that cooks three things at once?"

"Sure. They're old. My grandmother had one."

"No! What was hers?"

"Just a skillet."

"Cooked three things at once in a skillet?"

"Sure."

"How?"

"Hash."—Retail Ledger.

His Thought.

"You know you can't take your money with you when you die."

"That's true, and I can't help wondering what some of them fellows will do when they wake up in heaven and find that they're no better off than their neighbors."

Much the Same.

"I understand you said I was 'dead from the neck up.'"

"Nothing of the sort."

"What did you say, then?"

"I merely remarked that if it were not for the fashion of wearing hats your head would be a total loss."

Did Then.

"Barlow is very selfish. I've never known him to show an attachment for anyone but himself in his life."

"I have."

"When?"

"When he was serving his term as sheriff."

A Shell Game.

Mother—Bobby, what did you do with your nutshells in the tramcar?"

Small Boy—I put 'em in the overcoat pocket of the man I was sittin' beside.

GREAT PLANT IN MELBOURNE

Australian City Is Building Radio Station for Direct Communication With Great Britain.

The work of establishing the mammoth Australian radio station in Melbourne for direct communication with Great Britain has been begun.

The substations for overseas traffic will be about three times as powerful as any European station today. It will take two years before the central and feeder stations are completed. As a normal performance the chief station will be able to speak direct over 12,000 miles for the greater part of any working day.

Receiving and sending stations to correspond will be built in Canada during the same period. The plant for the main station will be imported from England, but the plant for the feeder stations will be manufactured in Australia, one for each of the states.

The combined cost of all these stations will be about $5,000,000. The main station will consist of a transmitter and receiver terminal thirty miles apart, the latter including twenty-four towers each 800 feet high spread over a square mile.

The wireless rates will be one-third less than the present cable rates to Europe.

SHORT FLASHES

San Francisco is receiving concerts broadcast at Schenectady, N. Y.

In New York a squad of soldiers was drilled in an armory uptown at the commands of a superior on Governor's island.

At the Pacific coast seaside resorts, instead of burying themselves in the sand, the young ladies clamp on their earpieces and kill time between swims listening to radio music.

Educational experts say that radio will prove of great assistance in the development of the minds of subnormal children. The great obstacle in their education has been inability to arouse interest. It is believed that radio will greatly stimulate such interest.

And now it is the dentists who are profiting by radio. It is a great advantage to keep the mind of a patient off his troubles. When a radio ear-piece is clamped on, what registers on the ears of the sufferer makes him more or less indifferent to what is going on in his mouth. Great possibilities for the soothing talker.

The "VAPO" Oil Cooker Possesses Many Features Not To Be Found In Any Other Cooker!

BURNS 22 to 36 HOURS on a Gallon of KEROSENE or GASOLINE

Absolutely No Odor No Smoke—No Soot. No Wicks to Trim.

AN UNUSUAL BURNER—The burner, as you know is the most important part of any oil cooker. The Vapo burners will last a lifetime. All parts are easily removed and cleaned if necessary. Our patented flame spreader plate really covers the top of the burner, insuring the the user from the annoyance of clogged burners (from over cooking) so common in the ordinary oil stove. An unusual guarantee has been placed on this wonderful burner. Should any parts of burner become defective or worn out during life of cooker, such parts will be replaced by us free of charge.

ANOTHER EXCLUSIVE FEATURE—The Vapo Patented Automatic Locking Valve is another important feature to be found only on the Vapo Oil Cooker. This wonderful valve automatically permits various ranges of heat, from a simmering to a full heat. The flame can be turned down from a full heat to simmering without even looking at the valve, because it locks automatically, thus preventing the cooker from going out. Another feature on the valve is the sight feed. You can tell at a glance the amount of fuel being used. These valves make the cooker absolutely fool proof—safe for children.
